A. The court charges the jury that if you believe from the evidence that the plaintiff's intestate was operating the automobile which he was driving at a rate of speed in excess of fifty miles an hour at the time and place of the collision alleged in the complaint, then I charge you that as a matter of law the operation of the said automobile at such speed was negligence on his part.

E. The court charges the jury that the law does not presume that the defendant in this case was guilty of negligence, and if you are able to reasonably reconcile all of the evidence in this case with the theory that the defendant was not guilty of negligence, it is your duty to do so, and in that event you should find for the defendant.

B. The court charges the jury that if you believe from the evidence that the sole proximate cause of the collision and consequent death of plaintiff's intestate was the high rate of speed of the automobile which the plaintiff's intestate was driving at the time and place alleged in the complaint, your verdict should be for the defendant.
