

Given Charges

Robert

US

Woodson

Given Mitchell

1. The court charges the jury that the law does not presume that the defendant in this case was guilty of any negligence, and, if you are able to reasonably reconcile all of the evidence in the case with the theory that the defendant was not guilty of negligence, it is your duty so to do, and in that event you should find for the defendant.

3. The court charges the jury that, if you believe from the evidence that the plaintiff sustained his damages as a proximate result of a mere accident, it is your duty to return a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Done 10/10/00 Judge

4. The court charges the jury that you cannot find for the plaintiff, if you believe from the evidence that the plaintiff's damages were caused in part by his own negligence, and that such negligence on his part proximately contributed to his damages.