Dear Sir:

I am enclosing two letters which I have secured in an effort to clarify Ticket No. A 9795 which the Highway Patrol gave my truck driver in your district.

I believe this will exempt me without any doubt from this regulation.

Please let me know what your ruling on this will be.

Dear Sir:

Answering your letter of August 25, 1952, a shipment of farm produce, not manufactured products thereof, in interstate commerce is exempt from the jurisdiction of this Commission. This does not exempt an intrastate shipment which originated at one point in the State of Alabama and is destined to another point in the State of Alabama.

To be an interstate shipment from Mobile to Enterprise, it must be a continuation of a shipment originating outside of the State of Alabama where it was known from the origin that its destination was Enterprise instead of Mobile and the only interruption and change in the transportation is the type of vehicle, or vehicles used, such as from a boat to a truck.

Very truly yours,
