Case No.

COUNT I. The plaintiff claims of the defendants the sum of ONE HUNDRED FORTY-TWO & 72/100 DOLLARS ($142.72) due from them by written contract whereby certain sums of money were loaned to them under a loan plan known as a BANCARDCHEK account agreement, dated to wit: November 30, 1969, whereby certain sums of money were advanced by the plaintiff to the defendants which were to be repaid by subtracting said amount from their checking account plus a finance charge as agreed in writing, by the plaintiff and defendants.

The plaintiff avers and charges that the defendants were overdrawn in their checking account, creating the present indebtedness after they had been advanced monies under said BANCARDCHEK agreement. The plaintiff further avers that it has made demand upon the defendants for the repayment of such funds advanced to them, that there still remains due and unpaid as of the filing of this suit the sum $142.72 plus the interest thereon and in addition thereto a reasonable attorney fee as provided by said agreement in event it was necessary for the plaintiff to employ an attorney for the enforcement of the said agreement. The plaintiff avers that a reasonable attorney's fee is $75.00 and in addition to the principal and interest due thereon claims said attorney fee.

A true and correct copy of said BANCARDCHEK agreement and application are attached hereto and made a part hereof as if fully set out herein.
